

One state. One system.

Leadership Message

Neeraj Chauhan
Chief Deputy Director

Over the past year we have been working to improve and enhance our lines of communications to better serve you. We have learned that early engagement, active participation, and open communication are critical to the success of this project. We want to hear from you on a regular basis so your experience as you onboard and begin transacting in the system is as smooth as possible.

As such, we now hold our User Community Forums monthly to have a regular dialogue with our end users. We reinstated our Customer Impact Committee to provide state agencies a formal mechanism to ensure feedback from their departments is being heard by our leadership team.

We've also created a Cal eProcure Vendor User Group that enables us to work directly with the vendor community to identify needs and quickly address concerns.

Stakeholder participation is critical as we move toward our 2017 and 2018 Releases. By engaging with FI$Cal, participants will gain a better understanding of impacts FI$Cal will have on their departments, and can help in resolving challenges encountered along the way.

During the coming months, we will continue our efforts to increase and encourage stakeholder involvement by: standing up our Retention Unit, which provides additional support to departments that have already onboarded with FI$Cal; recruiting more FI$Cal Service Center staff to assist in responding to service tickets; and using social media as another means of timely communication with our stakeholders.

We will continue to work on innovative ways to collaborate with all of our stakeholders. Together, we will improve the State's financial management system to better serve the people of California.

FI$Cal Self Service Portal

The FI$Cal Service Center (FSC) is getting faster.

The FSC's new Self-Service Portal allows users to create their own service tickets. Instead of sending an email and waiting for a FSC staff member to open a ticket and generate a ticket number, users can open their own ticket and get a number immediately.

Users can include as much information and as many attachments as they need to describe their issue. In addition, the Self-Service Portal allows users to check the status of their open service tickets.

A video on how to Access the FSC Self-Service Portal is available if you are interested on how to use this tool.

How does the FI$cal Service Center Prioritize tickets?

End users have been asking how the FI$Cal Service Center (FSC) determines the priority of the service tickets they receive. The FSC uses an information technology service management tool that calculates the priority of a ticket based on the combination of the impact and urgency of the issue/incident. Tickets are prioritized based on the following criteria:

Critical

- Tickets related to all or a major part of the FI$Cal production system being down
- All or most users are unable to perform their job
- No workaround for the issue exists

High

- Tickets that involve an issue that is impacting the FI$Cal production system and that must be fixed as soon as possible. The system is not down.
- No workaround for the issue exists

Medium

- Tickets that involve issues that need to be resolved by specific time (next week or "by end of month")
- A workaround for the issue is available for use while the issue is being investigated

Low

- Tickets that involve an issue where the resolution of the issue is not time sensitive
- A workaround is available for use while the issue is being investigated

If you have a question about the priority of a service ticket please call the FSC at 1-855-FISCAL0 (1-855-347-2250) and ask to speak to a manager.

Adobe Connect

FI$Cal is using Adobe Connect to provide live real-time broadcasts of presentations at meetings including User Community Forums.

Connecting to the broadcasts requires minimal preparation. If you have never used Adobe Connect before, you will need to test your connection prior to logging into a meeting presentation by using the following link: http://fiscal.adobeconnect.com/common/help/en/support/meeting_test.htm

Adobe Connect will run a quick diagnostic test to see if your computer has the correct version of Adobe Flash Player installed and an Adobe Connect connection. The diagnostic will then test the speed of your internet connection and administer an Adobe Connect add-in test.

If the diagnostic shows you need to update your computer, you'll receive links to Adobe Flash Player. You may need to contact your department's Technology Team in order to get administrative rights to install a required Adobe Connect add-in for the presentation broadcasts.

Once you have installed the latest Adobe Flash Player and have the correct add-in installed you will be ready to receive Adobe Connect web presentation broadcasts.

To view a specific presentation open the URL of the Adobe Connect meeting included in your Outlook Calendar invite. Be sure you're entering the correct URL for the meeting.

After you have opened the URL, an attendee pod will open, ask you to sign in, or attend as a guest. Select "Enter as a Guest," provide your first and last name and select enter. The Adobe Connect pod will allow you to view, listen, and contribute to the broadcast.

You can ask questions via the Question and Answer pod, and see what is being shared with in-person attendees. If you experience audio issues and cannot hear the broadcast, you may need to log out of the meeting and then log back in. You can also call in and listen to the connect meeting via the phone number provided on the Outlook Calendar invite.

Adobe Connect also offers a free application for Apple and Android smart phone users to attend Adobe Connect meetings through their mobile device. With this application, end users can avoid having to request Flash and Adobe Connect add-in installations, and continue to use their work PC for work, while simultaneously viewing and listening to a presentation.

The same procedures are followed for logging in via smart phone, and are offered as those via the computer based application.

If you need assistance with logging onto a FI$Cal Adobe Connect presentation please contact FI$Cal at 916-576-1250. You can also view a short video tutorial on How to get started with Adobe Connect on our FI\$Cal Youtube page.
